DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is in response to the communication 03/17/2009. Claims 1 – 32 are currently pending.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 1-32 under prior art rejection have been fully considered and are not persuasive. However, upon further consideration, a new ground(s) of rejection is made in view of obviousness-type double patenting (item # 3) and 35 USC 112 Second paragraph (item # 4).

Applicant argues that the prior art does not teach acquiring a security code from a second communication device by a first communication device" and "receiving media containing said security code from said first communication device". Examiner respectfully disagrees. Instant claims limitations can broadly interpreted as any two devices communicating with each other, in particular server 220 and user terminal 110 in the security system 200. Local server 220 receives/authenticates the user security code (password, ID) along with translating that security code by substituting with fresh password (using it as an IP address of the user terminal). Since the original ID was never disclosed, Barber (6,502,193) does disclose secure communication by exchanging information without specifically declaring IP address to the first communication device. Applicant's arguments fail to comply with 37 CFR 1.111(b) because they amount to a general allegation that the claims define a patentable invention without specifically pointing out how the language of the claims patentably distinguishes them from the references. Examiner repeats previous suggestions of amending the independent claims to overcome the prior art rejection by incorporating subject matter from paragraphs [0065-0069] and [0078-0082], please refer to the previous office action. Additionally, please review identified allowable subject matter in item # 5.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the “right to exclude” granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

3. Claims 1 – 32 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1 – 13 of Patent 7,289,632. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because:

The claims of the copending applications and of the Patent contain every element of claims 1 – 32 of the instant application and thus anticipate the claims of the instant application. Claims 1 – 32 of the instant application therefore are not patentably distinct from the Patent claims and as such are unpatentable for obvious-type double patenting. A later patent/application claim is not patentably distinct from an earlier claim if the later claim is anticipated by the earlier claim. Furthermore, there is no apparent reason why applicant would be prevented from presenting claims corresponding to those of the instant application in the other copending application. See In re Schneller, 397 F.2d 350, 158 USPQ 210 (CCPA 1968). See also MPEP § 804.

Claims of the instant application are anticipated by patent claims in that the patent claims contains all the limitations of the instant application. Claims of the instant application therefore is not patentably distinct from the earlier patent claims and as such are unpatentable for obvious-type double patenting (In re Goodman (CAFC) 29 USPQ2d 2010 (12/3/1993)).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 1 – 32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Independent claims recite “secure communication of information in a communication network ...”, however do not show how that secure communication is achieved.

Examiner suggests amending the independent claims with the subject matter that is disclosed in dependent claim 19, 25 and/or 31.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 19, 25, and 31 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims. Additionally, Examiner suggests filing the Terminal Disclaimer to overcome the obviousness-type double patenting rejection.
